Ship, Masquerading As U.
S. Cargo Boat, Caught In South Atlantic

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—A Navy escort steamed slowly toward port today with a badly-damaged Axis merchantman, captured in the South Atlantic masquerading as an American cargo vessel, with the Stars and Stripes at her masthead. The blockade runner was caught by an unnamed U. S. cruiser in equatorial waters Nov. 6, but the Navy department withheld news of the seizure until last night—a fact which led to the belief that the ship was within a few hours of port.

The crew of the ship tried to scuttle her as soon as the cruiser ordered her to heave to, the Navy reported, but quick action by a salvage party of bluejackets kept the vessel afloat, although badly damaged and unseaworthy.

The Navy announcement had nothing to say regarding the exact nationality of the vessel and her crew, or about her destination. Neither did it identify the port to which the ship was now being taken, except that it was one "within jurisdiction of a United States court."

Suspicious Aroused
With characteristic economy of detail, the Navy gave this account of the 10-day-old incident. The cruiser—presumably on a patrol mission—came upon the merchantman at dawn and decided there was something suspicious about her, although she was decked out as a United States ship. She flew the American flag, displayed its on either side of her hull and on deck, carried the name of a known U. S. merchant ship on the sides of her pilot house and on the stern, and also showed Philadelphia as her home port.

The cruiser ordered her to heave to and then lowered a boat with an investigating party. Almost immediately, the crew of the merchantman began abandoning ship and she broke out signal flags that said: "Send boats for passengers; I am sinking."

Before the cruiser's boat reached the ship, two explosions occurred in the merchantman's hull—apparently an effort to speed her sinking.

However, the cruiser managed to put a salvage party aboard and after several hours work they were able to stop the leaks caused by the explosions and to get the engines turning over again.

The Battle of the Atlantic Goes Into Full Swing

The Battle of the Atlantic is now in full blast with repeal of the Neutrality Act, which allows American merchant ships to be armed and sent to belligerent ports through combat zones. Berlin has announced this will plunge the U. S. into a "sea of incidents" because German warships "obviously will be obliged" to fire on American ships carrying munitions. This picture map shows where encounters may be expected.

POTTERY OFFICIAL
DIES OF INJURIES

Funeral Service for W. H.
Locke Anderson, 48, Will Be Held Tuesday

EAST LIVERPOOL, Nov. 17.—Funeral service will be held here at 10 a. m. Tuesday for W. H. Locke Anderson, 48, vice president and general manager of the Edwin M. Knowles China Co., who died yesterday of injuries received in an accident at the plant in nearby Newell on Thursday.

A past president of the United States Potters' association, he is survived by his wife, a daughter and one son.

Funeral service will be in charge of Rev. Clark W. Cooper of the First Methodist church, assisted by Rev. Francis G. Stewart, pastor of the Emmanuel Presbyterian church. Burial will be in Riverview cemetery.

Friends may call at the home tonight.

Anderson was found unconscious on the floor of an enclosure housing an air compressor after being struck by a flywheel while inspecting the machinery. His skull was fractured.

Anderson was president of the East Liverpool Rotary club. He was born here, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas B. Anderson. His father is general manager of a pottery at Evansville, Ind.

A graduate in ceramic engineering, he was associated with the Youngstown Sheet and Tube company and the W. S. George company at East Palestine before becoming an executive of the Knowles company three years ago.

Parachutes Save
5 Men In Bomber

(By Associated Press)
SALT LAKE CITY, Nov. 17.—Five men parachuted to safety last night from an Army bomber that crashed and burned on a mountain ridge southeast of Park City, 30 miles east of here.

Another man evidently died in the wrecked plane and the seventh crewman was unaccounted for. Tom Archer of Park City, who saw the plane crash, said he saw one man in the wreckage, but because of the fire was unable to get close enough to try to identify him by his insignia.

The only members of the crew not checked into the Park City hospital were Maj. R. E. L. Pirtle, flight commander and commander of the 88th reconnaissance squadron, and Sgt. J. D. Anderson.

First Lieut. W. E. Baylis, pilot of the B-18 on the return leg of a flight from Salt Lake to Denver, reported the order to abandon ship had been given when the plane encountered blizzard conditions shortly before midnight. He did not know, however, whether all bailed out before the ship crashed.

Baylis was carried four miles in his parachute. Four other members of the crew landed near Park City and were taken to a hospital to be treated for cuts and bruises and for shock.

In the hospital, in addition to Baylis were 2nd Lieut. M. Simmons, 2nd Lieut. C. A. Smith, Staff Sgt. E. V. Bynum and Pvt. 1st Class B. L. Torgersen.

Hunters Surge Back Into Fields; 7 Die First Day

(By Associated Press)

Game wardens understood that admonition today as Ohio hunters returned into the fields for the second day of a shooting season that is expected to be the most bountiful in many years.

Seven deaths were attributed to the hazards of campaigning for pheasants, rabbits and Hungarian partridge in Saturday's half-day opener. Nine persons were wounded.

The dead are:

Harold Beyer, 18, of Bremen, struck by train.

Allen, 18-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. August Chul of Sandusky, killed by train.

Kenneth Young, 17, of Troy, shot.

Calvin Farrell, 47, of Mansfield, shot.

Raymond Harris of Toledo, died of heart attack.

John Shire, 19, of Ashland, died of shock after being wounded.

"The story was the same in all parts—plenty of game and good results," Don Waters, head of the State Conservation commission, reported. He predicted that 800,000 pheasants would be bagged in Ohio this year.

Indictment of the hunters' lack of game was the subject of a hard luck story of the week:

Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Buzard of N. Main St., Columbiana, finally completed the remodeling, redecorating, and refurnishing of their 10-room home on Saturday night.

Their first visitors on Sunday were members of the Columbiana fire department who spent two hours at the scene before extinguishing a blaze that did $3,000 damage to the house and $1,000 damage to the new furnishings.

The fire started in the pantry and burned through to the attic, destroying a major portion of the rear of the home. Cause of the blaze was undetermined. The loss is covered by insurance.

LABOR CRISIS NOW
AT BREAKING POINT

Capital Expects President
To Order Decisive
Counter Measures

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—CIO's United Mine Workers halted all production today in one after another of the coal mines which supply the nation's biggest steel companies—and thereby openly defied President Roosevelt's twice-repeated injunction that the coal "must" be mined.

U. M. W.'s decision brought the current labor crisis to a breaking point. Storm signals were flying in Congress and the capital waited momentarily for the President to order decisive counter measures.

The White House was silent, pending formal notification of the collapse of settlement negotiations, but Mr. Roosevelt already has given his pledge to Congress that "the government proposes to see this thing through" and keep the mines operating, regardless of the negotiations outcome.

Army Given Orders

There was a widespread belief that the President was ready to order the Army to take over the captive mines. His weekend conferences with War Secretary Stimson and staff officers were looked on as indications of this intention, but the War department refused to discuss the matter.

The union, determined to force acceptance of its demands for a union shop, ordered its members to stop work in the captive mines at midnight Saturday. Most miners do not work Sunday's, however, and the full impact of the walkout came today.

The mines involved are in five states and unofficial estimates place the number of their workers at 54,852. Under a union shop all of these would be required to join the U. M. W., which already claims 95 per cent of them as members.

The last hope of avoiding the work stoppage was shattered yesterday when union and management representatives broke off negotiations after three days of special conferences suggested by the President.

Three Firms Involved

In calling the representatives together Friday, the President told them to "let me have some kind of a report on Monday next—a report of agreement, or at least a report that you are making progress."

But in their formal report to the White House today, both sides made plain, there would be nothing either of agreement or progress.

When yesterday's session ended a spokesman for the steel negotiators said they were still "undivided in our opposition to a closed shop or a union shop."

The representatives of the steel firms which own the mines were Frank Purnell of Youngstown Sheet and Tube; Eugene G. Grace of Bethlehem Steel and Benjamin F. Fairless of United Steel.

Equally firm was John L. Lewis, U. M. W. president. "Obviously the mine workers could not extend special favors to the steel companies without impairing and invalidating the agreement with 90 per cent of the remainder of the industry," he said. Making it clear that the conferences had produced no progress whatever he added:

"The conversations are thus concluded without result."

NEXT ON THE PROGRAM

The return of the United States from its self-imposed withdrawal into isolation has been finished with repeal of the restriction on use of the seas. The effort to legislate peace by insulating the nation against the hazards of war has been officially declared futile.

No one can say what is next on the program of America's effort to influence the course of international pressure politics that has resulted in the crack-up of the peace structure erected after the end of the World war. It was not, as viewed by hindsight, a good structure; it was doomed to failure.

Undoubtedly, there will be more frequent occurrences of violence as the result of United States shipping operating in combat waters and entering the ports of belligerent countries. But they will be different only in degree, not in kind, from the occurrences already in the record.

Germany's naval policy has not excluded United States shipping from attack; German submarines and planes have attacked vessels flying the American flag and in the future will continue to attack them. There will be an increase in the number of opportunities, that is all.

Against the damage that will be done and the lives that will be lost must be placed the advantage of doing more effectively the thing which the United States has resolved to do—checkmate Hitlerism. The job is too big to be tackled with one hand tied, which was the effect of the restrictions on shipping included in the neutrality act.

The arming of merchant ships seems to be more of a technicality than anything else, because the German technique of naval raiding cannot be affected in any important way. The only effect of arming merchant ships is to keep submarines and planes at a distance, or, as is true particularly of submarines, to make them operate at the greatest possible disadvantage. But Germany already has been making allowance for the handicap by a technique of submarine operation that rarely gives the victim a chance to get in a shot before it is torpedoed.

It cannot be said with any justification that the United States is closer to shooting war than it was before; the shooting war already was well under way. The effect of the decision taken in congress will be to enable this country to engage in the shooting war on its own terms, instead of the terms of the German strategists who hoped to keep the United States isolated while they conquered the rest of the world piecemeal.

A FIGHTING SHIP'S DESTINY

While the sinking of the colorfully named aircraft carrier Ark Royal had been reported so often that the British admiralty's announcement of its loss is an anti-climax, no one who is trying to comprehend the nature of naval battle in this war will underestimate the importance of what has happened. One of the most important units of the British battle fleet has been destroyed—a unit more valuable than a dreadnaught. Aircraft carriers in this war are worth their weight in gold.

British dreadnaughts and cruisers are in the peculiar position of having no Nazi opposition. The Germans, remembering the battle of Jutland, are not choosing to tangle with the British where the British are strongest. One cheap submarine, one cheap bomber, one cheap torpedo boat can dispose of the most expensive British battleship—and if it fails, and the battleship does the destroying, nothing of importance has been lost.

The Ark Royal was destroyed by a torpedo. Other costly and important fighting ships of the British navy have been destroyed, or put out of commission, or their fighting power impaired by bombs. The Germans, with only a nominal battle fleet operating on the surface, have every reason to be pleased with the outcome of their strategy of sinking Britain's ships wherever they are found and abandoning their former ambition of assembling a high seas fleet to drive the British off the ocean. A fighting ship's destiny is to do as much damage as possible and to be sacrificed if necessary. In this war, Britain's fighting ships are not finding it possible to do much damage, but still are being lost at a rate that must give admirals the shivers.

DEEPER THAN THE COAL MINES

The Roosevelt administration, spokesmen for the steel industry and labor leaders are all aware of an issue in the current mine dispute deeper than the points of difference being discussed. It is the issue of whether or not in a national emergency points of difference between labor and management should be handled as though no emergency existed.

The policy arrived at by hard experience in the World war called for a suspension of ordinary methods. The war industries board took the position that the emergency should not be used to bring extraordinary pressure to bear on such moot points as the union shop on the closed shop; i. e., that it was against public policy for labor leaders to strike while the iron was hot in an attempt to settle issues which in ordinary times probably would not have been opened.

In every move made by labor leaders in the present national emergency there is implicit the same question that was answered in the World war when government concluded that conditions of labor should be preserved; that attempts to modify them under pressure of emergency could not be tolerated. Perhaps conditions are different now. That is the point being decided.

QUOTABLE QUOTES

On Oct. 1 began the climatic Nazi push of 1941 in the war against Russia. "Today," Adolf Hitler said, "begins the last great decisive battle of this year. It will hit this enemy destructively, and with it the instigator of the entire war, England herself. For if we crush this opponent we also remove the last English ally on the continent. Thus we will free the German reich and all Europe from a menace greater than any since the time of the Huns and later of the Mongol tribes."

Hitler's whole statement, which had the effect of making civilization hang on the outcome of the Russian campaign, became the official battle doctrine of the German army, to which it was addressed. As November slips into its waning days, many a judiciously indoctrinated Nazi youth must be drying up with apprehension as he realizes that the No. 1 threat to civilization still hasn't been scotched—the same awful fear, strangely enough, that fills the mind of every soldier on earth.

VITAL DIFFERENCE

Repeated references to the blindness of French labor leaders who lost their rights by abusing them by persons worried about the labor problem in the United States ignore a vital difference.

Frenchmen could not foresee the consequences of what they were doing; American can, because they have the inexperience of the Frenchmen to guide them. Only by wilfully disregarding the lesson of France's disunion in the face of a challenge to be strong can Americans make the same mistake.

If they were to prove to be that stupid, there wouldn't be much to hope for in the way of further progress in any event. And that, no doubt, is the reason why, day by day, the burning resentment of persons who think too much of their country to see its welfare kicked around keeps getting hotter. It's a

THE STARS SAY:

For Tuesday, November 18

THE LUNAR transits on this day urge to definite and decisive action, inspired by precise attention to details based on study, research and strict application, in order to attain the most lofty and worthy objectives. Such careful and energetic attack should be brought to bear when stubborn obstacles or crystallized conditions arise, since well-organized plans with indomitable will and flashes of genius may bring about important changes in the situation and help to further cherished ambitions.

Those whose birthday it is may be confronted by a year in which sound principles, practical and well-organized plans, as well as resolution and energy may be enforced upon lagging, congested or obstructed matters and brought to satisfactory culminations by good will, friendly and warm feelings vanquishing the most tenacious obstacles. Safeguard the health, dispel gloom, and cherished ambitions should be happily secured.

A child born on this day may be talented, practical, studious and deep, but its negative physical condition or morbid outlook may occasionally nullify its progress. question how long President Roosevelt can remain comfortably between a million and a half soldiers, 130,000,000 consumers and a handful of labor leader, who seem to have forgotten there are higher rights than the right to threaten the other fellow with inconvenience.

IF A CHILD'S A LITTLE TOO FAT

Parents Needn't Worry, Says Clendening

BY LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
The fat child in the household is always the object of a good deal of solicitation, even amounting to anxiety. The only person in the household who doesn't worry about

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

The fat child is the fat child himself and, according to an eminent pediatrician who has been making a study of these cases, the fat child is the one who is right.

There is not nearly so much to worry about as might appear on what can be called the surface. Nor is there as much reason to fear some deep-seated derangement of the ductless glands as many studies have led us to believe.

We have been told that the pituitary, sometimes the thyroid, and oftentimes the gonad glands are deficient in these cases. Doubtless there is a considerable element of disturbance of this sort present in some cases, but in most instances the fat child, according to Dr. P. C. Jenks of the University of Iowa is fat because he or she eats more than other children.

Parents Puzzled

This has got to be true; it's mathematical. But the parents want to know why the child eats too much; or they are puzzled by the apparent discrepancy that they think they observe to the effect that everything the child eats "turns to fat."

This has been blamed on the glands, and doubtless, as I say, there is some perhaps glandular disturbance which changes the rate of the child's nutrition in many cases.

Case studies of a large number of these children show that they are not only a little heavier, but also taller than the average child. The bone age, as shown by X-ray, is more advanced than that of the average child. In other words, these children have simply attained more growth and maturity than the average child.

Years Bring Normalcy

The parents worry a great deal because the boys do not appear to be assuming manly characteristics, but in all instances studied the normal changes occur in the body about the normal age for a boy, and by the time they are twenty-one to twenty-five, they appear like any other man of the same age. At the same time a great deal of their overweight disappears. In other words, it is comforting to know that most of these fat children outgrow the condition.

Treatment by glandular therapy, it is true, often a useful adjunct to the real treatment of the overweight child is to reduce the food intake (especially sweets) and to increase the amount of activity. When a program of this kind is insisted upon, the fat child himself begins to worry also, because what he doesn't like is to eat less and exercise more.

Thin Child Eats Too Little

The problem of the thin child is exactly of the same character, but opposite in that the thin child is thin because he doesn't eat enough. I am assuming in this discussion that an examination has proved that there is no organic disease—simply overweight or simply underweight.

One little girl was enticed by every device known in a children's hospital to eat more, but they could not get her diet higher than 600 calories a day, which is about the intake of a six-months-old baby. That's why she stayed thin.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Clendening has seven pamphlets which can be obtained by readers. Each pamphlet sells for 10 cents. For any one pamphlet desired, send 10 cents in coin, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clendening, 235 E. 45th st., New York. The pamphlets are: "Three Weeks' Reducing Diet," "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Pernicious Hygiene," and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

ADVANCES LISTED IN FORDS FOR '42

Three New Lines are Lower, Safer and Provide Easier Riding

In making your selection of the car to drive in 1942 you will be certain to stop in at the E. L. Grate Motor Co. and see the new Fords, all featuring new exterior lines and new styling within, the 1942 Ford car was disclosed to be lower, safer and easier riding than any of its more than 29,000,000 predecessors.

Either of the optional Ford engines delivers 90 horsepower. Their performance is even higher than before, and operating economy has been improved through a long series of engineering refinements.

Three Lines Offered

Three lines of Ford cars are offered—the super de luxe, the de luxe and the economy special.

In appearance the new cars are larger and more massive. A completely new frontal design has a low, wide grille of bright metal as its dominant feature. Headlamps and auxiliary lamps are recessed in the front of the wider fenders, and the fenders themselves flow smoothly into the body lines to accentuate the general streamlined effect of the car's styling.

Bodies flare out of the bottom concealing the running boards completely.

Styles Stress Comfort

Advanced style innovations are evident in the interior treatment of the 1942 Ford cars. Most striking of these are found in the super de luxe body styles which this year reach a new high in luxury and comfort.

The new instrument panel in all three Ford lines is exceptionally attractive, with instruments designed for easy reading.

One of the chief engineering advances in the 1942 car is a softer and more stable ride. The car tread—that is, the width between the wheels—has been widened 2 1/4 inches in front and 1 1/2 inches in the rear. The effect of the improvements is to produce a "velvet" ride, even on rough country roads.

Driving Made Easier

Stabilized, easier steering is another safety feature of the 1942 Ford. Operation of the finger-tip gearshift and hydraulic braking system also has been made still easier.

Bodies are of all-steel construction. No wood is used in the body structure. They have been very carefully sound engineered and are remarkably quiet, in part because rubber is used at all points of metallic contact as a sound insulator or vibration absorber.

Additional power, greater fuel economy and improved cooling of the 1942 engines highlight the year's engineering advances on the engines.

KEEPING CLOTHES CLEAN NO PROBLEM

Paris Cleaners Are Better Equipped Than Ever For Winter Work

The season of dirt and grime, coal dust and soot, is here, with the beginning of cooler weather and will be even more pronounced when the mercury begins to slide in earnest.

That means more attention to the problem of keeping clothes clean and fresh, although it's no problem at all to customers of the Paris Cleaners. Only a telephone, for these folks, is all that's needed to dispose of this issue satisfactorily.

The Paris is better equipped than ever this fall to handle cleaning needs of people of Salem and vicinity. With virtually all new and modern equipment in use now, as a result of a summer remodeling program, not only the effectiveness of the Paris service has been increased, but the capacity of the plant has been enlarged.

If you have a cleaning problem of any type, consult with the Paris. They will show you how to solve it.

Renewal Work Is Stressed, With Car Output Curtailed

With only half as many automobiles to supply the normal demand of the country for 1942, it is soon going to be popular to have your present car "renewed" and put in the pink of condition, says Mr. Dunlap of the Dunlap Motor Co., 350 W. Pershing st., local Pontiac Dealer.

"Many motorists are going to find it necessary to drive their present cars another year or more," says Dunlap. "Some who want new cars will be unable to get delivery because the dealer and factory are sold out. Prices of new cars or the difference between the old car and the new one will be too high for some, while still others won't be able to meet the requirements of the new time payment terms of one-third down and the balance in 18 months."

Nothing Strange

"There is nothing secret about any of these things. Curtailment, higher prices and installment buying have been in the papers for weeks, so, I see no reason for not talking about them," continued the Pontiac sales head.

"For those who are compelled to keep their present car especially if they are two, three or more years old, I'd suggest having a car dealer 'renew' them and put them in apple pie order appearance-wise and from a safety, a mechanical and an economy standpoint. The Dunlap Motor Co. has the service equipment and mechanics to take care of any make of car."

"Motorists in this classification are looking for better transportation. By having their cars 'renewed' they will get what they want. Also, they will keep their cars in better shape for the time when they are able to trade on a new car."

able To Take Care of Work

"As new car production declines and dealers have fewer to sell as well as fewer used cars to sell they will be better able to take care of owners' service work promptly and efficiently because they will have all of the shop facilities and men

Quaker Gridders Nose Out Lisbon High Blue Devils, 14-12

FOURTH QUARTER AERIAL, VOLIO TO KING BRINGS WIN

Salem Fails to Show Punch In Next-to-Last Game Of Grid Season

Displaying a listless offensive and a lackadaisical defense, Salem High's unpredictable Quakers edged a spirited squad of Lisbon Blue Devils 14-12 in a grid fray at the Columbiana county fairgrounds Saturday afternoon.

Salem's victory touchdown came late in the final stanza after Volio, on Salem's 35, passed to King on the 15. King eluded two would-be tacklers and scored standing up.

Except for a brief period before the final marker, Salem led the entire game. Bob Scullion, plunging fullback, paced the Salemites to the ten yard line late in the first quarter, then plunged the remaining distance soon after the start of the second. dodged to the five and then dove eight yards through the air to land three yards behind the goal, leaving two flabbergasted Lisbonites in his wake. Volio passed to King on a fake placement to score the extra point.

Coach Overturf used Scullion sparingly during the tilt, saving the injured griddler for Thursday's crucial contest with Leetonia at Reilly stadium.

Score Late in Second Quarter
Salem held a 7-0 advantage until near the end of the first half. Then Lisbon recovered a fumble on the Quakers' 35. Eason tossed to D. Dillard for 20 yards and he ran 15 more for the score. Eason's line plume failed, Lisbon trailing, 7-6, at halftime.

Neither team scored in the third period, although Lisbon threatened, starting a touchdown drive that culminated in a score in the fourth period. From its own 35, where a Salem punt was downed, Lisbon started a march to the Salem 40 with Eason, F. Dillard and Silage featuring. Eason passed to Silage on the eight-yard line as the period ended.

Eason went over for a score to open the fourth period. Eason's plunge was halted on the extra point, Lisbon leading, 12-7.

A spirited Lisbon delegate swelled the crowd to the greatest size of any witnessing a Lisbon game this year.

BOWLING NEWS

Aged And Honorable Grid Rivalries Come Up Again For Renewal This Weekend

(By Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Football rivalries that Grandpa helped inaugurate back in the days of quilted uniforms and handlebar mustaches present their 1941 editions this week-end.

Top honors in prestige and age probably go to the Yale-Harvard meeting Saturday at Cambridge. Other series to be extended are Southern California-Notre Dame, St. Marys-Fordham, Ohio State-Michigan, Kansas-Missouri, Alabama-Vanderbilt and Oregon-Washington.

Of that lot, not a team is unbeaten and untied although Notre Dame has only a 0 to 0 deadlock with Army against it. The list of "perfect" teams was cut to 15 last week, with four major powers—Minnesota, Duke, Texas A & M and Duquesne—still among those present. Only Wisconsin stands between Minnesota and a second straight unbeaten season and retention of the Big Ten title. Duke, hopeful of a bowl bid, must surmount North Carolina State, while Duquesne finished its season with a terrific 16 to 0 triumph over Mississippi State.

Texas A & M has yet to play defeated Texas, November 27, and also has a meeting December 6 with Washington State.

This week's program includes:

Yale sends one of the weakest Blue teams in history to Cambridge to oppose Harvard. Yale lost its sixth straight to Princeton Saturday, 20 to 6, while Harvard trounced Brown, 23 to 7.

Army, 14 to 7 loser to Penn. takes on West Virginia while Navy goes against an improving Princeton machine. Columbia, tired out holding Michigan to a 28 to 0 win, closes its year against Colgate, held to a 19 to 19 deadlock by Syracuse. Pennsylvania tangles with Cornell, 33 to 19 winner over Dartmouth.

Northwestern, beaten 7 to 6 by Notre Dame, looks too strong for Illinois. Ohio State, 12 to 7 victor over the Zuppemken, tackles once-beaten Michigan. Iowa, after losing to the Gophers 34-13, goes to Lincoln in hope of giving the Huskers their sixth straight setback.

Nebraska was a 14 to 7 victim of Edgert (Special Delivery) Jones of Pittsburgh, who for the second straight week stamped himself as a great back.

Wisconsin punished Purdue, 13 to 0, in getting ready for Minnesota. The Boilermakers tangle with Indiana in the Hoosier state classic.

Alabama needs a victory Saturday over Vanderbilt to remain in the Southeast conference, dominated by Mississippi State and the University of Mississippi. The latter two meet November 29. Tennessee collides with Kentucky.

Except for the Oregon-Washington feud, little will be done to straighten out the scrambled Pacific coast conference standings. Stanford, up-ended a second time this season, goes against California November 29 after losing to Washington State, 14 to 13. Oregon State, 6 to 0 master of California, meets Montana. UCLA takes on Santa Clara. Washington State has Gonzaga as its foe.

Salem Saxons Win
Cage Opener, 59-13
The 1941-42 season of the Penn-Ohio Saxon basketball league got under way Saturday with the Salem Saxons posting a standout 59-13 win over the Cleveland West Saxons in a court tilt at Cleveland.

The locals put every man on the floor during the fray but still showed the power of their defense by allowing only four field goals.

The Salem team is coached by Pete Sanders. The Penn-Ohio Saxon league includes teams from Cleveland East, Cleveland West, Monaca, Pa., New Castle, Pa., Farrell, Pa., Canton, and Salem. Salem's next game will be against Cleveland East, defending champs in the circuit, at Cleveland, with the first home game coming on Dec. 6 when Monaca plays here.

Louisville Drops
E. Palestine 18 to 0
Louisville High captured the Tri-county league football title here scoring its ninth consecutive triumph by beating East Palestine, 18-0.

Louisville broke into the scoring column early in the first period. The Bulldogs rallied briefly in the final period to carry the ball to Louisville's 15-yard line but lost on downs.

Louisville had a 16-4 edge in first downs.

LEETONIA SCORES 32-0 VICTORY IN TILT WITH NEWELL

Drive To Win Despite Injury To Stumpo, Backfield Ace

Featuring a hard running attack interspersed with passes and capitalizing on blocked punts, the undefeated and untied Leetonia High school gridders routed Newell, 32 to 0 before 3,500 in a benefit game at East Liverpool Saturday.

Victory came despite an injury to Dominic Stumpo backfield star, on the first play of the game. A recurring shoulder injury put the husky lad on the bench. He will be able to play in Leetonia's Thanksgiving day clash with Salem.

Murphy who made a 56-yard touchdown run and scored another marker on an eight-yard dash around left end, and Mango, who also registered two touchdowns, paced Leetonians to its 10th victory.

Newell had a 9-7 edge in first downs. A blocked punt set the stage for Leetonia's first marker in the initial frame. Mango and Murphy pushed from the 16 to the eight and Murphy then skirted left end for the tally.

Leetonia's other touchdown came in the second half, two in each of the third and fourth frames. Man-tired to sprinted 14 yards from the Leetonia 30 and Murphy broke away on his long scoring dash. Johnson blocked a punt on the 10 to set the stage for Mango to chalk up the next. Frank took a lateral 15 yards for the fourth touchdown and Mango climaxed a power drive by racing 15 yards for the last one.

Mango and Murphy plunged for an extra point apiece.

Goofy Golf
Guys who break their necks trying to break 100 on a golf course won't be any happier to know that 11-year-old Frank McManus of Yonkers, N. Y., has shot the Leetonia record in 79 and averages in the 80's. He won't take a lesson from the pro and his only practice is to play around two or three Visual Errors!

One serious aspect of visual errors is the fact that people do not always know when their eyes are to be blamed for their troubles. Headaches, nervousness, "that tired feeling," and other disorders are very often traced directly to defective eyesight after they have been blamed for years upon organic disorders which do not exist.

The only way to learn whether or not your eyesight is all that it should be is to have a complete, modern eye examination.

CHICAGO, Nov. 17.—Accumulated selling orders during a weekend of favorable harvesting weather caused soybeans prices to slump more than 3 cents a bushel early today but the market quickly rallied to recover half of this loss.

Berlin Claims U. S. Sends Soldiers Into Ireland

BERLIN, Nov. 17.—An authorized German spokesman said today that Germany suspects a "trick" in the revision of the U. S. neutrality law whereby American soldiers and officers "dressed as civilians" could take over suddenly in northern Ireland and possibly also on the west coast of Ireland in the event Britain should weaken.

"According to our information," he said, "America already has bases in northern Ireland. Men in civilian clothes are arriving from the United States in increasing numbers."

(Approximately 800 American technicians went to northern Ireland last summer assigned to work on harbor and defense construction projects in connection with American lease-lend aid to Britain.)

Gamblers Released

COLUMBUS, Nov. 17.—Their 10-day sentences for gambling completed, 30 men were released from Franklin county jail Sunday. Nine others will be freed during the week. The men were sentenced for horse race bookmaking, slot machine operations and "numbers" writing.

Public Is Invited To Army Program

Captain F. O. Mavis, public relations officer for the Air Corps who will speak at the Aviation Cadet meeting sponsored by the Salem Junior Chamber of Commerce in cooperation with other civic, patriotic and fraternal organizations, at 8 p. m. Tuesday in the Memorial building today pointed out several important advantages connected with the pilot training course now offered by the Army Air Corps.

This is one of the very few opportunities now offered to civilians to obtain a commission in our armed forces. The men who complete the 7 1/2 months training course will be commissioned second lieutenants in the Army Air Corps Reserve and placed on active duty for three years at a salary of $245 per month, plus a uniform allowance the first year of $150 and a cash bonus of $500 for each year of active service.

This pilot training course is the finest in the world and costs the government approximately $15,000 per man. During the 7 1/2 months training the Cadet will get about 250 hours in the air and upon being commissioned he will pile up approximately 1,030 hours during the three years active duty. As a pilot officer he will fly many different types of the latest and most modern planes now being built.

The above photo is a scene at Kelly field, taken from the movie which Captain Mavis will show tomorrow night.

The meeting is free and open to the public. A special invitation has been extended to Mayor Norman Phillips, honorary chairman, and Atty. Ralph Atkinson, active chairman of the local defense committee and all members of the local civic, fraternal and patriotic organizations. It was announced by R. M. Linder, chairman of the national defense committee of the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Lieut. Sundorph Killed While Testing Airplane

A first lieutenant in the Air Corps reserve, Sundorph took off from Patterson field and was just leveling off the ship at about 300 feet when it plunged to the ground. The wreckage did not burn.

Engine failure, causing the plane to stall, was given as the cause by Lieut. C. F. Robbleth, officer of the day at the field.
